Dear Ms. Fuhs:

Congratulations! Your applications submitted to fulfill the didactic education requirement for BCIA Biofeedback and Neurofeedback Certification have been accepted and approved. This accreditation is for a 4-year period, commencing November 1, 2008 and is valid through December 31, 2012.

We are especially proud of the work that you will be doing since SFU is the first university to offer BCIA curricula outside of the continental United States. BCIA strongly believes in the value of university training because we know that for this modality and the field to move ahead, the education should start there.

Because SFU is a university accepted and accredited in your country, the students will need to submit a transcript to document their didactic course work when applying for BCIA certification. In addition, the professor should submit a letter documenting that the course taken fulfilled the complete BCIA blueprint, appropriate for that certification.

The following statement is the only one which may be used in any promotional material.

"This didactic education program is accredited by BCIA."

Again, we appreciate your organization's commitment to providing quality education in Biofeedback and Neurofeedback and the valuable service you provide to BCIA candidates for certification.

Cordially,

Fred Shaffer, PhD
